International Work Opportunity Returnability Kuleana (IWORK)

Brigham Young University–Hawaii

Please carefully read the requirements of the IWORK program below and initial that you are willing to abide by each of the program requirements of this program.

The IWORK program is to assist students from the Pacific Rim (South Pacific & Far East) in obtaining a quality education at BYU–Hawaii. It is built on the principle of self-reliance and its goal is to provide the necessary financial assistance to worthy members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints so they can return home to their countries and regions debt-free and qualify to provide leadership roles internationally in church, in civic and social affiliations, and within their families.

The IWORK Program is a unique and generous opportunity available only at BYU–Hawaii. The program offers a 50 percent grant and 50 percent forgivable loan. The loan portion is only repayable if the recipient chooses not to return to their home region following graduation from BYU–Hawaii. Through the IWORK program BYU–Hawaii pays all university tuition, class fees, insurance, room and board in excess of the student contribution and payroll deduction from their work at either Polynesian Cultural Center (PCC) or BYU–Hawaii. IWORK program participation is limited to a maximum equivalent of 12 semesters in residence (approximately 4 years of attendance). Transfer student's maximum eligibility will be determined based on the number of transfer credits accepted toward their degree requirements.

When a student is selected to participate in the IWORK program, the student, his/her family and/or sponsor(s) are expected to honor the financial commitment made on behalf of the student during the student's entire enrollment whether or not the student gets married while attending BYU–Hawaii. The student will be required to contribute to his/her own education by working at the nearby PCC or BYU–Hawaii and paying a portion of his/her wages toward the student's own educational cost. The student's family and/or sponsor will have to help provide on a yearly basis, a fair student contribution in line with the economy of the student's country and the family's income, along with assisting the student with cost of books and supplies.

One half of the total aid given to the student while on the program will be a grant that does not have to be repaid and the other half will be a student loan provided to the student by the university that is forgivable (does not have to be repaid) if the student returns to their home country/region. The total loan amount will be decreased 25% for every year that the student resides in their home county/region after leaving the university.

Upon graduation from BYU–Hawaii, it is expected that the student will return to their home country or region qualified to provide leadership roles internationally in church, in civic and social affiliations, and within their families. Failure to return to your home country/region will result in your being required to repay your IWORK student loan.

If you are selected to participate in the IWORK program, here are the following requirements for all participants. Please read each item below, then type your initials on the line indicating that you have read, understand, and agree to abide by each requirement.

STUDY

Students on the IWORK program are expected to achieve at least a 2.0 GPA every semester. If a student falls below 2.0 during the time of their education for any two semesters, the student will no longer be eligible to remain on the IWORK program. They are expected to be enrolled in at least 12 credits in fall and winter, and 8 credits in spring. Summer is not an official term as it is only meant for internship enrollment, therefore no merit or departmental scholarships are available.

There are many resources at BYU–Hawaii that students may utilize in order to help them develop good study habits and to be successful as a student. We encourage all IWORK students to take advantage of these academic support services, such as the Center for Academic Success and peer mentoring to help them maintain good grades and receive assistance when necessary.

WORK

As a part of the IWORK program, on-campus employment is required of all IWORK students. These jobs are all located at the Polynesian Cultural Center (PCC) and BYU–Hawaii. While performing the duties of these jobs, the employee is regularly required to stand for long periods of time, sit, dance, talk, hear, and use arms and hands to operate the equipment. Light to moderate lifting is required. The ability to handle the stress or participating in regular performances in front of large audiences is required. A limited number of positions are available that do not require the physical requirements noted above. More information is provided on the Employment at the Polynesian Cultural Center page.

All students on the IWORK program generally are expected to work 19 hours per week at their given place of employment while classes are in session and 40 hours per week during school breaks. A portion of the student's paycheck will be deducted each pay period to help pay for the student's educational costs. Accommodations based on disability are provided according to the University's Accommodations of Persons with Disabilities policy.

- The loan may be amortized over a period of no more than 8 years.
- There is a 6-month grace period that begins as soon as the student is no longer enrolled at BYU–Hawaii.
- During the grace period, no interest accrues and the student is not required to make any monthly payments.
